Date: October 20 and 21st, 2012 Time: 8:15 a.m. -5:00 p.m.
Location: Criminal Justice Center, Philadelphia
1301 Filbert Street
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19107
Cost: $200.00 (Includes Continental breakfast, workshop and glossary materials)

The Widener Legal Education Institute is pleased to offer a language specific workshop on court interpretation for individuals interested in becoming a Court Interpreter for the Arabic, Chinese, Korean, Russian or Spanish Languages. Plenary sessions will be language neutral.

ABOUT THE WORKSHOP

This language specific workshop on court interpretation is designed with the beginner and intermediate - level court interpreter in mind. The goal of this workshop is to guide the participant in the development of the indispensable, practical skills that are particular to the consecutive, simultaneous and sight interpretation modes. The workshop is a collaborative effort with Widener University School of Law, the First Judicial District (the Philadelphia Courts) and the Administrative Office of the Pennsylvania Courts (AOPC). In support of the collaboration are the Philadelphia companies which offer interpretation and translation services, EZ Language, Language Services Associates, Quantum, Inc. as well as the Delaware Valley Translators Association. This workshop will ensure equal access to justice for litigants with limited English proficiency, (LEPs), and provide institutional training for spoken language interpreters with regard to court proceedings in the Arabic, Chinese, Korean, Russian and Spanish Languages.

EDUCATIONAL & TRAINING OBJECTIVES

Following the workshop, participants should:

- ✓ Develop Key skills: note-taking, consecutive & simultaneous interpretation, sight translation
- ✓ Develop Protocols, standards of practice & best professional practices for court interpreters
- ✓ Become familiar with Legal terminology and glossary (English – Foreign Language)
- ✓ Understand the Pennsylvania Rules of Professional Conduct for Judiciary Interpreters

Instruction assumes some prior basic training and exposure to these modes of interpretation. The main instructional strategy for this workshop is a graduated difficulty approach to the task of simultaneous interpretation. Coursework will move from simple exercises to hone listening-speaking skills, through lag development, to the simultaneous interpretation of edited recordings. Plenary discussion topics will include information about certification examination rating and scoring.

Instructional materials will cover a wide range of subject matter, from literature, glossaries to a guilty plea colloquy, jury instruction and trial transcript exercise. These materials will contribute to the growth of participant's general and subject-specific vocabulary. All exercises will be followed by peer and instructor assessment of the performance with respect to analysis of the source language, and the accuracy, linguistic integrity and delivery in the target language. These discussions will create an opportunity to reflect on and develop the desired simultaneous interpreting strategies and skills.

WHAT TO BRING

To maximize the learning experience, participants are encouraged to bring:

- ✓ Laptop or a CD Player (Compact)
- ✓ Digital Recorder
- ✓ English-Foreign Language Dictionary
- ✓ Legal Terms Dictionary (English and/or English – Foreign Language)
- ✓ Completed preprogram assignment (preprogram glossary assignment to be distributed in advance of the workshop)

Note: Dictionaries are optional as there is Internet access in the classroom.

Instructor will provide additional materials for continued development outside the classroom.
