

2011 Annual States' Reports Survey Responses

CONSORTIUM FOR LANGUAGE ACCESS IN THE COURTS 2011 State Reports' Survey

Instructions for using the 2011 States' Report survey.

In 2011 the Planning Committee decided to change the format for the annual states report from a narrative text document to a survey. As a result, the report is now an Excel workbook. In order to navigate the Excel workbook, please read the following:

There are 6 tabs (worksheets) within the workbook(tabs located at the bottom of the sheet)

Tab 1 - Cover Tab 2 - Instructions Tab 3 - Survey questions Tab 4 - All responses Tab 5 - All graphs Tab 6 - All text responses

Roll mouse over the Q# (located in row 1 of Tabs 4, 5, & 6 across the columns) to display the question.

All survey questions are hyperlinked to the different tabs and their corresponding responses in order to provide the reader with both the quantitative and qualitative data obtained via the survey.

Tab 2 Survey questions contains all the hyperlinks. Examples: Q1 – State is hyperlinked to Tab 4 -All responses showing all the names of the respondents.

Q3 - If the responses are quantitative (Yes/No) then the responses cells are hyperlinked to Tab 5 - All graphs to provide a visual layout of the data. The hyperlink will take you the row number and column where the Q# is located so please scroll down accordingly.

Q5 – If the response is qualitative (description of items in narrative format) then it is hyperlinked to Tab 6 - All text responses.

| California | Sonia Sierra Wolf Court Services Analyst | We currently provide different courses for various audiences, which we have found helpful with regard to attracting more people to the profession of court interpreting, as well as assisting those interested in preparing for the exam process. We provide "Introduction to the Profession" at interpreter trade conferences such as CHIA (California Healthcare Interpreters Association) as well as NAJIT and RID (Registry for interpreters for the Deaf). Additionally, all newly certified and registered interpreters ar required to attend an 8 hour Ethics workshop within their first two year compliance period. The workshop reviews codes of conduct for professional interpreters as est forth in the California Rules of Court and includes a discussion and presentation with judicial officers and other justice partners. Currently registered interpreters are also required to attend an Orientation course within the first two years. In addition to these workshops we are developing a self-paced on-line orientation for all newly certified and registered interpreters. (This new course will replace the in-person sessions currently novided for | 1 | Gregory Miller Holly Mikkelson - Monterey Institute of International Studies Julie Johnson-Monterey Institute of International Studies Cecilia Isaac- Certified Court Interpreter Esther Navarro-Certified Court Interpreter Genevieve Navar- Certified Federal and State Court Interpreter | Presenters have substantial expertise in the subject matter and are highly familiar with course content as well as not requiring any additional training. | 1 |

We anticipate administering an oral interpreting exam in Farsi in Spring of 2013. We are also trying to secure the use of bilingual oral proficiency exams to assess bilingualism for registered interpreters. Bilingual oral proficiency exams may be made available to assess bilingual staff to work in appropriate locations outside the courtmom courtroom.

Interpreter candidates in languages other than those listed in #39 must take an English only proficiency exam (after passing the written examination) to become registered interpreters if non-designated languages.

This Plan is quite different from other plans as it is a strategic implementation plan of the amended Chief Justice Directive 06-03, signed in June 2011. Colorado is also delivering a Data Report every 6 months to monitor implemention of the CJD. |

| 0 | 1 | We provide information about language proficiency testing to the courts, which they use as they need. We are a non-unified court, so there are no statewide job descriptions for "bilingual employees." This kind of determination is made at the local leve, and we provide them the resources to implement it should they chose. |
