Why Is ODR Needed?

People Need Help Resolving Legal Issues

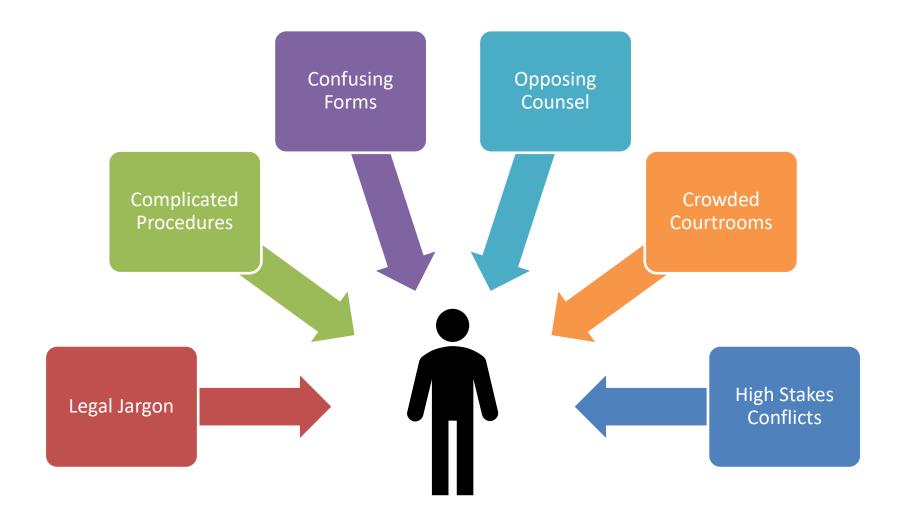

Half of U.S. households experienced a problem with legal consequences or solutions in 2018.

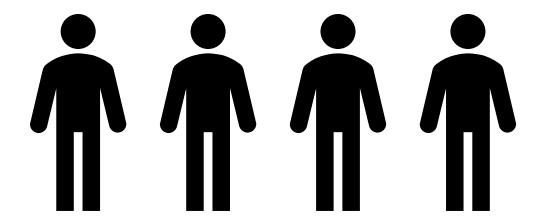

People Need Help Resolving Legal Issues

Courts Demographics are Changing

Litigants are changing.

3 out of 4 cases have at least one side with no lawyer.

Courts Must Embrace New Delivery Models to Serve the Public

59% of registered voters agree that courts are not doing enough to empower regular people without legal help.

ODR Helps Meet Users Where They Are

People can:

- Dispute cases outside of court hours from anywhere
- Avoid taking time off work &/or the need for child care
- Resolve issues more quickly
- Access legal information within/from the platform
- Access online translation or family/friend interpreters

ODR Could Fundamentally Change How Courts do Business

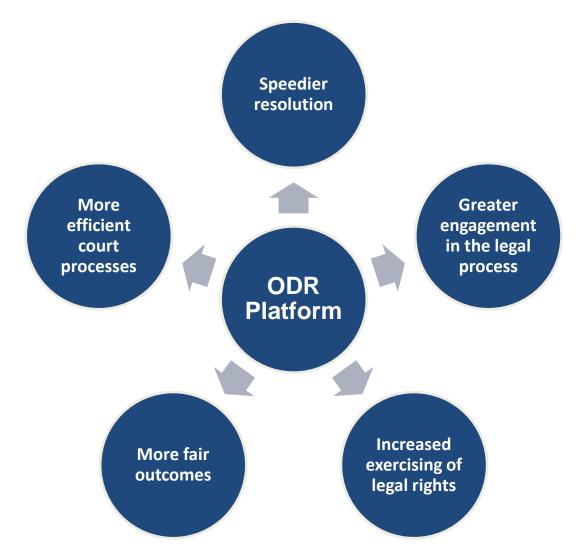

Courts can:

- Improve customer service
- Boost efficiency and fairness
 - Re-think the procedures in place for those case types where most people don't have a lawyer anyway (Small Claims)
- Reduce costs
- Offer another choice to court users

What Is Court ODR?

What is Court ODR?

A Court ODR platform is a...

Court-annexed

Hosted or supported by the judicial branch

Public-facing

Available for litigants to resolve disputes, not an internal tool for court staff

Digital space

 Online resources that can manage a case from start to finish and never require users to set foot inside a courtroom

...where parties can convene to resolve their dispute or case.
